DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 8 and 18-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 3711

Regarding claim 8, the phrase "formed of a material comprising includes" does not make sense.

Regarding claim 18(b), it is not clear what is meant by a web-shaped material. It is not clear if the dampening material is woven or if some other characteristic is intended. As such, no art has been applied to the method claims. Clarification is requested.

Claims 19-23 are rejected because they depend from a rejected claim 18.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §§ 102 and 103

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3711

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary.

Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1-8, 10 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent Number 5,314,180 (Yamagishi et al., hereinafter (Yamagishi)).

Regarding claims 1, 3-7, 10 and 17, Figures 1, 3, 4 and 7 of Yamagishi show a hollow frame with a dampening layer 5 wrapped between a plurality of layers 6.

Regarding claim 2, Figure 1 shows a pair of dampening layers 5 arranged in longitudinal symmetry.

Regarding claim 8, Yamagishi teaches the use of synthetic rubbers. See column 7, lines 53-55.

8. Claims 9, 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over as applied above.

Art Unit: 3711

Regarding claim 9, discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable has been held to be within the capabilities of the person of ordinary skill in the art. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in this art, by routine experimentation, to provide the Yamagishi racquet with the recited damping layer thickness to obtain optimum vibration damping.

Regarding claims 11 and 12, It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the Yamagishi reference by having the damping layer with the recited length and width, since applicant has not disclosed that having such dimensions solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the damping layer would perform equally well with any dimensions as long as it was able to be wrapped around the frame windings.

9. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamagishi as applied above in view of U.S. Patent Application Publication Number 2003/0073523 (Hsu).

Hsu teaches that it is old and well-known in the art to make the shock absorbing layers found in a tennis racquet with a Shore hardness of greater than thirty. See paragraph [0025].

Art Unit: 3711

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 13-15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

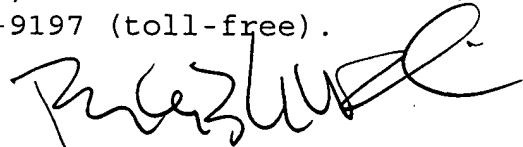

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
